SHOWS FALLING OFF.

Comparative Table of Fish Catch to July 1.

Loss on Cod and Mackerel and Gain on Haddock and Halibut.

Although the fishing season, since it opened in the spring, has been one of the poorest for some years, still the amount of fish landed at this port for the six months ending June 30 does not fall far below the figures for the first six months of 1905.

The greatest falling off and the most disappointing feature has been the utter collapse of the mackerel seining fishery, a paltry 4000 barrels and little over being landed, against some 15,000 barrels for the same period last year.

Salt cod show a decline of one million pounds and fresh cod have dropped off a million and a half pounds. The latter is due to the poor showing of the Cape North shakers, while the former would have been even more behind last year but for the fine fares of the salt "drift" fleet. The salt bankers are behind last year as only a small number of them have been home with first trips. It is hoped that the receipts this month will put salt bank cod up where it belongs.

Owing to the big winter fishing and the frequent glutting of the T wharf market, sending fares here to split, the receipts of haddock are over 2,000,000 pounds ahead of the receipts of the same kind of fish for the first six months of 1905.

Receipts of hake are off about 1000 pounds from the receipts of the first six months of last year, for the reason that the summer shakers have not been bringing in the usual large fares of these cheap, but fine fish.

The falling off of 600,000 pounds in the receipts of cusk is due more than anything else to the poor success of the Georges halibut fleet, which last season brought in many large fares of these fish.

Pollock run about 200,000 pounds ahead of the first six months of last year, the boats having done well seining these fish close to shore as they did in May and June of last year.

Taken as a whole on ground fish the receipts for the first six months of the year are below the corresponding period of last year only about 800,000 pounds, but if the comparative receipts of salt mackerel are added they fall behind 1905 by about 3,000,000 pounds.

However the season is young and with the six months to come there are reasons to hope that at the last of December the figures for the whole of 1906 may be equalled, if not surpassed by those of 1905.

The following table shows the comparison of the catch of the principal kinds of fish for the first six months of 1905 and 1906:

The fish were taken yesterday afternoon off Race Point, but as it was foggy, the skippers could not say whether others took fish there at the same time or not. In addition to her fresh mackerel, sch. Argo has 14 barrels of large salt mackerel taken previously in South Channel.

The fish brought fancy prices, the large mackerel selling at 25 cents each. Sch. Gertrude got nine cents each for her medium fish and sch. Argo got eight cents each for her mediums.

MODUS VIVENDI HELPFULL

Matter Being Discussed by Nova Scotia Fishermen's Union.

Some Would Do Away Altogether with License Fee.

Among the matters brought up for consideration at the semi-annual meeting of the Fishermen's Union No. 3, comprising the seven counties west of Halifax, N. S., at Wood Harbor, N. S., last week was the following;

"The Modus Vivendi; As the license system, adopted in relation to American fishing vessels, is not prejudicial to our interests, but rather helpful to the trade of our fishing ports, a protest is entered against any more exclusive measures, and an opinion is expressed, backed by an array of facts, that it would be preferable to abolish the fees of such license, so as to allow the free purchase of bait and stores, and the transhipment of fresh fares."

With several other matters, it was passed to the executive to arrange for consideration in proper order later in the session.

Dogfish Bothering Portland Fishermen.

All the Portland fishermen state that the conditions are the worst ever known along this coast on account of the dogfish which are fast increasing in number and playing sad havoc with the fishermen. Unless some steps are taken to annihilate the pests, the season will be a dismal failure.
